Santa Claus is coming to town

Santa Claus is making a list and he'll be driving his sleigh to Fort Erie to find out which children have been naughty or nice.

Claus will bring holiday cheer with him, when he appears in the Santa Claus parade this Sunday.

Along with a visit from the famous man in the red suit, there will also be plenty of activities along the parade route, parade committee member Stephen Passero said.

The parade features photos with Santa, pony rides and an alpaca park, school and marching bands, hot chocolate, clowns and buskers, choirs and fire trucks.

"I'm looking forward to this event. We have some neat things planned," Passero said.

"We're in crunch time now, bringing everything together but the response from the community has been tremendous."

The parade will feature about 70 floats prepared by elementary schools, high schools and service organizations in the community.

Food bank use climbs in Fort Erie

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

Poverty can be eradicated but the community must take a proactive approach.

This comment was made by Rhonda Barron, a health promoter at Bridges Community Health Centre, in response to the annual Food Banks Canada Hunger Count 2013 report. Barron said that there's more work required to assist Fort Erie residents.

In its release last week, the Hunger Report stated, on average, 635,000 Canadians accessed food banks monthly in 2013, a decrease from 872,379 in 2012.

Although the report shows a decrease in food bank usage, Barron said those numbers are still much higher than they were prior to the recession.

"We're supposed to be experiencing an economic recovery, but those numbers don't reflect that,"

Barron said the Hunger Report is an important tool, providing recommendations for individuals in helping to reduce their reliance on food banks. Recommendations include investing in education, skill training, increasing access to affordable housing and updating social assistance.

A Niagara Prosperity Initiative-funded Road to Empowerment program is one way that change is being made, Barron says. The program began this fall and teaches people to become self-advocates and how to speak up for themselves on issues.

"To affect meaningful change, it can't just be service providers that are involved. It's the people with lived experience that need to be at the forefront of this movement," Barron said.

With the implementation of this program now underway, Barron said that an advocacy group is being created to allow people living in poverty a chance to share their stories with the community. Anyone who is interested in joining this advocacy group can meet at the Fort Erie Salvation Army on Monday, Nov. 18 at 3:30 p.m.

Community and family services manager Elliott Innes noted he's seen a "significant increase" in the number of people who access the Salvation Army's services.

Innes noted the Fort Erie Salvation Army serves more than 1,500 individuals each month, and the mobile outreach program serves 100 to 150 meals each week.

"The biggest change I'm seeing over and over again are families that used to buy a bag of groceries and donate them are now accessing the food bank under the age of 18."

4.3% were 65 or older
11.3% were Aboriginal

Erie said her organization serves on average 550 to 650 people per month.

"Last month it was slightly lower. We were at 535 people for the month," Crosby said. "It's likely that December will be a busier month," she added.

Hunger Report 2013

About 833,098 Canadians needed help from a food bank in March. That number has decreased since 2012, but it's 23% higher than it was in 2008.

Of those Canadians that required assistance:
48.2% were women.
36.4% were children under the age of 18
4.3% were 65 or older
11.3% were Aboriginal

11.1% were immigrants or refugees

46.5% were families with children (either single-parent or two-parent)

42.6% were single people

50% were on social assistance

16.4% had disability-related income support

11.5% had job income

7.0% were homeowners

Damage has been put at $125,000 in damages after a one-storey cottage in Crystal Beach burned, Monday, on Cherrywood Ave.

Crystal Beach cottage destroyed by fire

Tony Ricciuto

QMI Agency Niagara

Damage has been estimated at $125,000 in a fire that destroyed a Crystal Beach cottage Monday.

The Fort Erie Fire Department first responded to a fire at 384 Cherrywood Ave., in the Town of Fort Erie at about 5 p.m. on Sunday. The fire was minor in nature and caused minimal damage to the residence.

Niagara Regional Police said the fire was quickly extinguished by a nearby neighbour and the fire department.

Then on Monday, at about 1:45 a.m., the fire department and police responded to the same residence for a second fire. Upon arrival the residence was fully engulfed.

The residence was unoccupied at the time of both fires and there were no injuries.

The cause of the fires is undetermined and is being treated as suspicious. Anyone with information is asked to contact police at 905-688-4111 ext. 2325.

PCs, NDP hit at Liberals, as byelection looms

Ray Spitzer

QMI Agency Niagara

Hot-button issues in the Niagara Falls riding were simmering in the Ontario legislature this last week and the governing Liberals are on the receiving end of attacks from their adversaries.

Since 10-year Liberal representative Kim Cralor resigned in late September, the party leaders have been to the riding—Progressive Conservative Tim Hudak and New Democrat Andrea Horwath multiple times—as they try and win what is likely to be a tightly-contested byelection within four months.

The NDP are blasting the Liberals for what they believe to be the government putting the interests of big-city Toronto and its Woodbine Racetrack over those of small-town Fort Erie and its on-line support horse facility.

Hudak sent an open letter to Liberal Premier Kathleen Wynne, bemoaning the government's decision to close the slots at the track. He said the government should restore the slots, form a public-private partnership to run them and share the revenue locally.

Hudak sent an open letter to Horwath, criticizing her for "continuing to prop up the Wynne government."

"I'm tired of the NDP hypocrisy, where they criticize the Liberals in the morning and then happily prop them up in the afternoon," he said in an interview.

Hudak has called on the NDP to support a PC motion to bring down the minority Liberals.

"The theatrics are quite amusing," Mark Cripps, a Wynne spokesman, said of the NDP and PC criticism.

He said the government is providing $400 million over five years to the horse-racing industry. The province would like Fort Erie to host a few select races similar to Churchill Downs in the U.S. rather than a full schedule. The government hopes Fort Erie track officials can develop a business plan that "meets the criteria" of the government's plan.

Niagara Regional Police unveil new headquarters

Open house to be held on Nov. 18 at Niagara Falls library

Jeff Bolichowski
QMI Agency Niagara

Niagara Regional Police have revealed the first public glimpse of what their new Niagara Falls digs will look like.

The police service unveiled concept art of their new headquarters and 2 District building recently to regional council's corporate services committee.

The public will get a glimpse at a public meeting coming this month of the Niagara Falls side of the $83-million project.

"I hope the public sees that it's a welcome building — it's being built for the public—but it's not a grandiose building, either," said NRP Insp. Richard Frayne, who is heavily involved with the project.

"It's going to be a very, very functional building. That's what we're hoping to convey."

The glimpse of the headquarters comes as police plan a ground-breaking ceremony for the new building.

Police and elected officials will gather for the Nov. 18 ceremony at the new building's 5698 Valley Way address at 2 p.m.

An open house will follow at 630 p.m. at the Niagara Falls library on Victoria Ave., running until 9 p.m., Frayne said.

The concept photos depicts a long, solid grey structure at Valley Way and Portage Rd., with a broad glass facade and a bold NRP coat of arms greeting visitors.

Frayne said the building — listed at 19,280 square metres in the report to the Regional committee—will provide more functionality for the police force.

He said the current headquarters at 110 James St. is a high-rise and less functional as a police building, in part because it lacks cells.

"Currently our headquarters is kind of spread out across a number of facilities," he said.

Niagara Regional Police Services Board chairman Henry D'Angela said the police service loses efficiency right now with its headquarters in a separate building from the St. Catharines detachment at 68 Church St.

"We're hoping that it meets the (construction) timetables that are set out in the schedule," he said.

Frayne figured police could begin moving into their new digs by fall 2015.

Parade offers something for everyone

"We've got a lot of things people will be excited about. I don't want to go too much away but I think people will enjoy what we have planned," Passero said.

The parade will begin at 2 p.m. at the Fort Erie Race Track and continues east onto Catherine St. to Central Ave., then north on Central Ave. to Jarvis St. The parade heads east down Jarvis St. to the Niagara Falls Blvd.

Passero asks people to arrive early to find parking and a spot to view the parade from.

"The roads will be closed at 1:45 p.m. so we encourage people to get their spot picked out before that time," he said.

Passero said there will be a number of activities, including pictures with Santa at Coffee Culture on Jarvis St. after the parade.

"We've got a few things going on after the parade and we're encouraging all participants to stay behind after the parade for some more fun."

Those who attend the parade are asked to bring donations of non-perishable food items. Passero said firefighters will be walking the parade to collect donations for local food banks such as Community Outreach Program Erie and the Fort Erie Salvation Army.

Kinsmen collect toys for Gifts of Love

The Fort Erie Kinsmen and Kinettes will spread holiday cheer with their annual toy drive.

Volunteers will be collecting toys for babies, and children up to 12 years old at the Greater Fort Erie Santa Claus Parade, Sunday, for the Gift of Love program.

Fort Erie Kinsmen president Larry Graber said the organization works in partnership with the Stevestonville and Ridgeway Crystal Beach Kinsmen and Kinettes to collect toys.

Last year, the toy drive, which has been in operation since 1983, brought Christmas to more than 300 children, Graber said.

Graber said there are usually plenty of donations for children six and under. It's donations for older children that are greatly needed.

Graber recommends donating toys such as board games, sports equipment, hair accessories and other small items.

The service organizations work in partnership with the Fort Erie Salvation Army to distribute the toys.

If members of the community would like to make a donation to the toy drive, they can look for barrels at various businesses in Greater Fort Erie, Graber said.

The toys will be distributed to families on Dec. 19 and 20, just in time for the holiday season.

Hudak also slams Liberals for not acting on NHS recommendation

"For the vast majority of the Fort Erie Race Track's existence, it ran as a festival meet," Cripps said.

Hudak is also hammering the Liberals for not acting on a year-old recommendation by provincially appointed Niagara Health System super-v isor Kevin Smith to build a new hospital near the QEW and Lyons Creek Rd. The hospital would replace aging sites in Niagara Falls, Fort Erie, Niagara-on-the-Lake, Welland and Port Colborne.

"Your own adviser, Dr. Kevin Smith, said you'll actually save money here," Hudak said in the legislature.

Liberall Health Minister Deb Matthews said her ministry is reviewing a hospital proposal submitted by the NHS.

"While we have been consistent in our commitment to health care in Niagara, the same can't be said for Mr. Hudak, whose remarkable change of attitude can be explained only as biselection posturing," Matthews said in an e-mail.

"It wasn't very long ago that Mr. Hudak said he would not support a new hospital project in his own riding until the economic situation improves."

Hudak said it's the Liberals that have a record of flip-flopping during byelections and that he has supported a new hospital since it was proposed.

"If (a byelection) is what it takes to get a new hospital built in south Niagara, I'm not going to apologize for it, I'll keep the pressure up, same with the racetrack," he said. "I'm the only leader that's actually stood behind a new hospital for south Niagara."

Off to work

➤ Grade 9 students across region take part in Take Your Kids To Work Day

Shayla Kirk got a small taste of what it's like in the working world.

She was one of about 4,500 Grade 9 students in Niagara that swapped their textbooks for hard hats, lab jackets, and suits for the 19th Take Our Kids to Work Day last Wednesday.

The annual event allows high school students an opportunity to shadow a parent or guardian and discover what they do for a living. The one-day program also highlights the importance of education and training needed to be successful in careers after high school and post-secondary education.

Kirk, a Ridgeway-Crystal Beach High School student, went to work at town hall with her dad, Robert Kirk, a fire prevention officer with the Town of Fort Erie. She was one of three students who visited town hall.

"It's definitely been an eye-opening experience," Kirk said.

Kirk was given a tour of town hall, and followed along as her dad inspected a house and filed paperwork.

"It's been interesting seeing what my dad does. It's a lot different than what I thought," Kirk said.

She learned the role of a fire prevention inspector is to educate the public about the necessary precautions to prevent fires and other dangers.

Kirk said her dad's position is important because it protects the people in the community.

"It's helpful to the community and it can be complicated at times, too," Kirk said of the service her dad provides for Fort Erie residents.

Lakeshore Catholic High School student Thomas Wang spent the day working with his mom, Jing Wang, an accounting analyst with the Town of Fort Erie.

Thomas Wang said he wanted to work with his mom so he could spend more time with her.

"I've been watching what she does all day," Wang said.

"It's a lot different than school. I've got to learn what it's like working in a cubicle and to see what my mom does."

Do You Remember?

Last week's photo of members of the Can/U.S.A. camping club taken Oct. 11, 1972 brought in no phone calls.

As we are always interested in hearing more about this or any other Do You Remember photo, it is never too late to call.

It was nice to hear from Rosemary Stehling who phoned in about our Halloween photo.

Her son, Kevin, was the pirate in the photo taken at the Y.M.C.A. nursery school in 1981.

She tells us that it was quite ironic that the photo appeared on the day she and a friend were remarking that home-made costumes like Kevin's seem to be a thing of the past.

Since politicians are so much in the news, we thought we would feature some of our very own.

We know that Ray Haggerty and Bruce Finch are in this photo, but would like the names of the gentleman in the middle and the people in the background.

Does anyone know where this tree planting took place? Please call the Fort Erie Historical Museum at 905-894-5322 or e-mail museum@forterie.on.ca.

Fort Erie welcomes new Times editor

Sarah Ferguson
Editor's Notebook

As my first week at the Fort Erie Times has come to a close, I can honestly say the experience has been exhilarating, exhausting and most of all, heartwarming.

For those of you that may not remember me, I got my start in journalism with the Fort Erie Times in 2011.

Fresh from journalism school, I was lucky enough to find employment here at the Times. I remember the excitement of graduating from Niagara College's journalism-print program and landing a job in my field right away. Not many people are that lucky, that's for sure.

When a position opened up at the Welland Tribune last year, I leapt at the chance to further my journalism experience working for a daily newspaper.

When I learned Fort Erie's community newspaper needed a new editor, I knew right away that I belonged in this town.

Lucky for me, someone else thought so, too, and I got to write about the place where I grew up, where I went to school, and where I met a few lifelong friends.

This town has something special about it, and I hope to uncover what that special something is through my stories each week.

On my first week on the job, I met a lot of familiar faces that I know from working as a reporter more than a year ago.

I've been welcomed by many people with enthusiasm, with smiles, and even a few hugs.

I can say for certain that it's great to be back at the Times.

Looking at this week's edition of the newspaper, readers will notice a few things that are different. One of those differences is the addition of the community calendar.

The job of a newspaper is to inform its readers of what's happening in town and it should include a list of community events.

If you know of an upcoming event, or something you'd like to add, don't hesitate to give me a call or send me an e-mail.

Another addition to the newspaper is a weekly column written by Amy Ruebeck of the Fort Erie Public Library. Each week, Amy will talk about what's happening at the library and inform readers of lecture series, children's activities, new books and other events.

I'm looking forward to providing the town's community news and I look forward to hearing from readers if they have any news tips, comments, and suggestions.

If you'd like to reach me, call 905-871-3100 ext. 207. You can also e-mail me at sarah.ferguson@sunmedia.ca or follow me on Twitter: s_ferguson25.

I'd be happy to hear from you, the reader.

Strange things are happening in Bertie Township

Amy Roebuck
Fort Erie Public Library

Young people of all ages have lots to do at the Fort Erie Public Library this week, and throughout the month of November.

Lego fans will meet on Saturday, Nov. 16 at 2:30 p.m. at the Crystal Ridge branch to create a Lego or Duplo masterpiece.

Knitters at any level of experience can gather on Thursday evenings at Crystal Ridge, starting at 6:30 p.m.

to get help from ladies of the Bowen Road Women's Institute.

Minecraft Monday will be on Nov. 18, starting at 6 p.m. at the Centennial branch.

Young writers are invited to meet at the Centennial branch each Wednesday after school to join other authors and encourage each other.

For our youngest patrons, Born to Read is a great time on Thursday afternoons at the Centennial branch. Born to Read Storytime for babies newborn through those about to take their first steps includes bounces, tickles, rhymes, music, movement, book sharing and more.

Ready to Read, for toddlers through age five, is offered on Tuesday mornings at Crystal Ridge, and on Wednesday mornings at the Centennial branch.

Children aren't the only group with the opportunity to learn at the library. On Wednesday, Nov. 20, starting at 7 p.m. at the Crystal Ridge branch, the public is invited to a program called Strange Happenings in Bertie Township.

Fort Erie Historical Museum volunteer Charlie Capern will discuss little-known aspects of the War of 1812 in our region. Admission is free to this joint Bertie Historical Society-Library program, one in a continuing series in observance of the Bicentennial of the War of 1812.

Movies at the library this week include two recent animated adventure comedies for the whole family. In Planes, a cropdusting plane with a fear of heights lives his dream of competing in a famous around-the-world aerial race. Smurfs 2 teams the little blue folks up with their human friends to rescue Smurfette, who has been kidnapped by Gargamel. Both movies are being shown at the Centennial branch, and are rated PG. Check the website at www.flepla.ca or call any location for days and times.

Films for adults include Certified Copy playing tonight at the Centennial branch at 6:30 p.m. It is the story of a middle-aged British writer who meets a French woman in Tuscany, and falls into an adventure. Closed Circuit, with screenings on Monday, Nov. 18 at 6:30 p.m. at Centennial and Tuesday, Nov. 19 at 2:00 p.m. at Crystal Ridge, tracks two exceptional lawyers with a romantic past who step into a dangerous web of secrets and lies following a mysterious explosion in a busy London market. All movies at the library are $3 for admission.

For many years, the library has offered free Community Volunteer Income Tax Preparation clinics, staffed by private citizens who have been given training and support by the Canada Revenue Agency, but the need is greater than the library and these dedicated volunteers can meet.

There are many students, newcomers, seniors and others with low incomes in our town who are eligible for free tax preparation. Now Bridges, Casa el Norte, the Fort Erie Multicultural Centre, the Royal Canadian Legion Post in Ridgeway and the Salvation Army have all come forward and are eager to provide more free, public clinics, but they need volunteer preparers to realize that goal.

Do you think you may be able to help your community in this effort?

No tax preparation experience is necessary to join the CVITP program as a volunteer for the 2013 tax season—simply a willingness to help and to be trained, along with basic data entry skills.

The needed training is free and is provided by the Canada Revenue Agency. Please contact any of the organizations listed above if you are interested in becoming a CVITP volunteer preparer.

Amy Roebuck is the community services coordinator for the Fort Erie Public Library.

Trick-or-treat for others

GARRISON ROAD PUBLIC SCHOOL. Special to The Times
Members of Garrison Road Public School's Me to We Club collected non-perishable food donations instead of candy on Halloween for its We Scare For Hunger campaign. The donations were given to Community Outreach Program Erie. The Me to We Club is part of the Free The Children initiative, which raises awareness about local hunger.

COPE thankful for community's support

Dear Editor,

The penny drive continues to be successful at Community Program Outreach Erie. Thanks to the generosity of many people, the original goal of $10,000 was met on July 31.

Because people continue to bring in the pennies and other coins, we started round two of the penny drive, and that has generated $914 so far.

Many individuals, organizations, businesses, churches and schools continue to bring in donations of food and finances to COPE, for which we are very thankful. Without your help, the emergency food needs of many of our community members could not be met.

We appreciate the unique ways in which people continue to support COPE: asking that donations be made to COPE in lieu of birthday gifts; requesting donations to COPE in memory of someone who has passed away; school dances; school classes challenging each other to see which class can collect the most food; people holding "get-togethers" and asking attendees to bring food for COPE. One lady challenged her friends to make a $5 donation to COPE, making the statement "each donation will make a difference even had a dog make a donation recently, in lieu of being spoiled with too many treats."

Many local gardeners brought in fresh produce over the past months.

This was a great addition to the food being provided to our clients.

Recently, a gentleman brought in photocopy paper for us; and others have brought in Canadian Tire money, which is then used to buy cleaning supplies or something for the COPE van.

Another lady makes several blankets for COPE throughout the year. There are so many ways to help.

The annual Coats for Kid® project has begun.

If you have jackets and coats that are gently used and you wish to donate them, you can take them to Pike Cleaners on Jarvis St.

They generously clean and deliver the coats to COPE.

If the coats do not need to be cleaned, you can drop them off at COPE.

COPE provides its services to the entire community of Greater Fort Erie, which includes Ridgeway, Stevensville, Crystal Beach and Fort Erie.

Unfortunately, many people have been misinformed that we only work in limited areas within the town, but that is not true.

We have been serving the whole community since January 1983, and we will continue to "keep our doors open" as long as we are able to.

We thank each and every donor for their support. You know who you are, and we know that you are supporting COPE, because you care for others.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING PROPOSED REGIONAL POLICY PLAN AMENDMENT (RPPA 5-2013) Consultation, Engagement and Implementation Policies

PURPOSE

Since its development in the late 1970s, the Regional Policy Plan has evolved considerably. Between the adoption of the initial plan and now, many changes have been made to the document to reflect the long term goals and Vision for Niagara. Recently, a number of important foundation elements that underpin the Plan have been adopted by Regional Council through separate amendments. Collectively, these amendments constitute major elements of the Region's Five Year Review, which is being undertaken as a project called Imagine Niagara. One of the priority projects identified through Imagine Niagara involves developing consultation and engagement policies and updating the Plan's Implementation policies. Completion of this task falls under Imagine Niagara's 'Engagement' topic area and will tie together many strategic foundation elements of the plan and lay out a clear set of policies and priorities for advancing the new principles of the Regional Plan.

PROPOSED CHANGE

The proposed amendment will provide a comprehensive up to date of the Regional Plan's consultation policies (Section 12) and implementation policies (Section 14). In addition to updating these policies, amendment aims to accomplish the following three goals: foster stronger partnerships with Local Municipalities, stakeholders and agencies; implement the Region's commitment to consultation and engagement; and, improve planning service delivery for end users including the development community, the public and partnering Local Municipalities.

HAVE YOUR SAY

Public input on this proposed amendment is welcomed and encouraged. You can provide input by speaking at the public meeting or by making a written submission to the Region. If you do not express your views through these avenues, you may be forfeiting your right to appeal Council's decision to the Ontario Municipal Board.

Ridgeway business owners are holding their first ever Black Friday sale.

The event will take place on Friday, Nov. 22 in downtown Ridgeway.

Businesses that are participating in the sale include Lasting Impression and First Impressions, Downtown Dollar, Three Ferris' Women's Boutique, Schmitz N Giggles, Work of Art Frame Shop and Where'd You Get That.

The sale will run from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., said Ferris' Women's Boutique owner Ferris Beck Stone.

"I think it's important to mention this year we are offering a first-ever Black Friday sale," she said.

"Each business is offering its customers a special discount or gift."

Stone said it's important for residents to shop locally because doing so supports the community. With everything downtown Ridgeway has to offer, Stone said residents have everything they need in their own community.

"When you shop at small businesses in your neighbourhood, you help support the things that make your community great," she said.

"With enchanted gift shops, exclusive women's boutiques, stores, a movie theatre, great dining, and wine making makes Ridgeway a quaint and relaxing place to shop."

WARTS

Warts are a common viral skin infection caused by human papilloma viruses. In general warts on the hands and feet are harmless and most resolve on their own. However, they can cause embarrassment and some discomfort. There are a couple of over-the-counter (OTC) remedies that work well to treat these kinds of warts.

Infection with HPV occurs with skin-to-skin contact. Warts are caused by viruses and are passed from person to person. A common way of contracting the virus is by walking barefoot in public pools, showers etc.

About 30% of warts clear spontaneously in six months and 65% to 78% clear in two years without any treatment. However, most people would like to resolve warts more quickly than this. Salicylic acid is a first line OTC option. This medicine slowly destroys virus-infected skin and may stimulate the immune response of the person infected through mild irritation, which in turn helps clear the infection. There are a number of salicylic products available. They range in concentration from 17% to 40%. A 40% product should be used for plantar warts. The use of salicylic acid on facial warts is not recommended because of a potential risk of hypo- and hyperpigmentation (skin discolouration).

There is a bit of a regimen to follow with salicylic acid products. Before treatment the warts should be soaked in warm water for five minutes. Then, an emery board or pumice stone should be used to remove dead tissue. The salicylic acid treatment should then be applied. Treatment may need to be continued for up to 12 weeks. If the wart causes pain, patients can take acetaminophen or ibuprofen for the discomfort. Examples of OTC salicylic acid wart removal products include COMPOUND W, DR. SCHOLL'S CLEAR AWAY PLANTARS and DUOLINX WART REMOVER.

Cryotherapy (freezing) is another common wart removal treatment. This causes irritation and tissue destruction so that the individual mounts an immune response against the virus. Doctors typically use liquid nitrogen which freezes tissues to -196°C. There are also home cryotherapy systems available. These contain dimethyl ether and propene (DMEP). Examples include DR. SCHOLL'S FREEZE AWAY WART REMOVER, or COMPOUND W FREEZE OFF. Evidence shows DMEP and liquid nitrogen are fairly similar in efficacy. After application of cryotherapy a blister is formed under the wart. The frozen skin and wart falls off after about ten days and reveals new normal skin underneath. It is recommended that OTC cryotherapy only be repeated three times usually in ten day intervals.

The use of duct tape as a wart treatment has gained popularity. By putting duct tape over the wart they think the virus is deprived of oxygen which causes irritation and stimulates the immune response to the virus. Typical administration involves applying silver duct tape over the wart and removing a week later. Scrubbing the area with an emery board and leaving it open over night. Then reapplying duct tape. Silver duct tape has been shown to be more effective than clear duct tape, possibly because of the adhesive.

There are also a number of prescription products that can be used for warts if OTC treatments are ineffective. Patients with diabetes should consult their physicians before beginning treatment for their warts. Also, genital warts must be treated by physicians and are not suitable for treatment with OTC methods.

In general OTC wart treatments are effective, however, it may take several weeks for the wart to be removed. For proper selection of a treatment method come in and speak to your pharmacist.

Region wins recycling awards

Region is recognized for waste diversion programs

Niagara Region's waste diversion program has been recognized for its efforts in keeping garbage out of local landfills.

The Recycling Council of Ontario and the Municipal Waste Association gave the Region awards for the outreach campaigns to improve its recycling and waste-diversion programs.

The two organizations gave the region a gold medal for its 2012 outreach program that was focused on educating residents on what materials they can put into recycling bins. More than 5,000 also participated in the campaign's recycle and win contest, a regional press release says.

The region's pilot curbside battery collection program in Welland, Pelham and Port Colborne, which resulted in 2.5 metric tonnes of batteries being diverted from landfills, was also given a gold medal.

The region and Enterra Environmental, the company contracted to do recycling in Niagara, won a silver medal for the Make Your Contribution at the Curb campaign.

The program sees Enterra donate a dollar to the Niagara Health System Foundation for every tonne of recyclable material placed in grey and blue boxes in Niagara.

"Recognition from these two organizations is evidence that we're on the right track and should continue to support these important campaigns," Niagara Region CAO Harry Schlange said.

SARAH FERGUSON Fort Erie Times

Volunteers needed for tax clinics

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

Robert Brooke knows how important it is that he volunteers to help people in need to file their income taxes.

He's offered his time to residents with low incomes for two decades and is one of the volunteers at the Fort Erie Public Library's free income tax preparation clinics.

The clinics are held in March and April, during the height of the tax season, and ensure all residents with modest incomes receive help filling their taxes.

"I really do enjoy it," Brooke said.

The Fort Erie Public Library in partnership with Rob Nicholson, has offered free tax clinics for 20 years through the Canada Revenue Agency's Community Income Tax Preparation program, said the library's community service director, Amy Roebuck.

The phones at the library have been buzzing with activity, with residents already asking when the clinics begin, Roebuck said.

In the past, we have been over and we keep adding clinics and running our volunteers ragged," she added.

To meet this growing demand, Bridges Community Health Centre, Case El Norte, the Fort Erie Multicultural Centre, the Salvation Army and the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 230 have partnered together to offer clinics to students, newcomers to the country, seniors and others in need of assistance.

With more agencies on board to offer free clinics to the public, there is a great need for volunteers such as Brooke to help prepare taxes.

Roebuck said no experience is necessary to volunteer for the Community Income Tax Preparation program, although individuals must contact one of the participating agencies to register as a volunteer.

All that is required to be a volunteer is a willingness to learn. Training will be provided by the Canada Revenue Agency.

Have you HEARD?

IS THERE ASSISTANCE NEEDED?

Most people associate treatment of sensorineural hearing-related hearing loss primarily with hearing devices that are worn in or over the ear. However, there is another category of hearing devices called "active listening devices" (ALDs) that help meet communication needs that cannot be solved solely with traditional hearing instruments. For instance, special devices have been developed to solve problems involving difficulty hearing the telephone, radio, or television, as well as the inability to hear the door chime, fireplace ring, and alarm clock. Active listening devices and hearing equipment can either decrease the loudness of a sound source or transform a sound into a sound signal as a single signal into a visual alarm device or a visual alarm device.

A trained Listening Devices help people in common situations effectively interact with and understand the world around them. For many people with low hearing, it's not simply assistive devices that's important; it's also ensuring needed background noise in order to clearly locate desired sounds. The results is an improved quality life as you can more easily enjoy conversations with family and friends. To schedule a hearing exam, please call HEARING BALANCE & HEARING CLINICS at 905-871-4242 to schedule a hearing exam. We are located at 660 GERRARD ST., Unit 12, and we are open on Wed., Thurs., and Fri. Most major insurance accepted. Please visit our website at www.hearingbalance.ca

NOTE: There are auditory listening devices that help deliver sound directly to the ears of those who have trouble hearing in noisy, transient, hearing halls, etc.

Volunteers spruce up community gardens at Salvation Army

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

As they tended to gardens in need of care, a small group of volunteers knew their efforts would make a difference in the community. About nine volunteers from the Food Security Network, consisting of stakeholders and members of public health who raise awareness about food security, came together in October to clean up community garden plots at the Fort Erie Salvation Army, at 255 Gilmore Rd, said Bridges Community Health promoter Rhonda Barron.

The gardens are important, because they allow families and individuals with low incomes to grow fresh vegetables and learn to cook healthy meals on a tight budget.

Barron said it was important to clean up the garden so that the plots will be ready for the Spring when planting will begin.

"It was a great opportunity to get out there and clean up the garden so these plots will be available next year. People can sign up at the Salvation Army now," Barron said.

There is no cost involved with the community garden except a $20 deposit that will be returned if plots are well maintained, Anne Watters of the Fort Erie Salvation Army said.

Seeds, plants, a storage shed and access to water are provided to participants to grow their own vegetables.

Watters said the community garden provides an opportunity for individuals and families, who don't have adequate space in their homes to grow their own vegetable gardens.

There are 12 available plots and individuals may register now if they're interested in tending a plot next spring.

For more information about the community gardens call the Fort Erie Salvation Army at 905-871-1592.

Entrepreneur of the Year uses his achievements to help others

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

Walter Deveau knows a thing or two about running a business and how to be successful.

He has owned and operated Tech Services Niagara, on Helena St. since 2011. Prior to creating his digital business, Deveau created Shop Niagara, which provides employment for adults with developmental disabilities.

Deveau is also the fundraising director for Therapy and Alternatives for Special Children and Adults and uses the money raised from Shop Niagara to support TASC.

The Fort Erie businessman was recently named Entrepreneur of the Year by the Greater Fort Erie Chamber of Commerce at the Business Excellence Awards.

The Fort Erie Times sat down with Deveau to talk to him about his career.

Question: How does it feel to be named Entrepreneur of the Year?

Answer: I've been nominated before. It's like anything else you go through in a day, you work on your projects and you hope they make a difference.

Q: How did you become involved in the business world?
A: I started in 1995 when I opened Sliders (a restaurant). From start to finish it took 60 days. I developed a business plan, got my loans and opened up at the Crescent Park Plaza. It took 30 seconds for it to burn down in 1998 so I went back and did it all over again. We reopened in a different location, this time we reopened on Jarvis St.

Q: Why didn't you continue to operate your business on Jarvis St?
A: It ran for about a month and a half but it just wasn't financially viable.

Q: It must have been difficult to restart your business after the building you operated out of was burnt down. How do you manage failures when they come your way?

A: There's always something that gets you down, but it's momentary. There is more to life than working.

Q: What other jobs did you have in your lifetime?

A: I had a job working for the March of Dimes as a PSW. Later, I launched an advertising program called Shop Niagara. I was involved with TASC Niagara (Therapy and Alternatives for Special Children and Adults) and it was running out of funding. I started Shop Niagara and used the money to fund TASC.

Q: What do you enjoy about TASC?

A: We went from helping six people when we started and not have 68 people and more are coming from all over Niagara. We've been able to help people with all types of disabilities.

"Success boils down to how you treat people..."

Q: You have a lot of responsibilities with your work commitments. How do you balance these commitments with your personal life?
A: Family and the people you work with. Everything else doesn't matter. If you get tied up in everything you're doing, you lose sight of that.

Q: Why do you think you've been successful in your career?

Walter Deveau

A: Success all boils down to how you treat people and how you react to situations.

Q: How do you overcome difficult situations?

A: You can get down on yourself, your situation or your environment but you're better off looking to your inner strength and the people around you.

Q: I've heard Fort Erie referred to as 'Fort Dreary'. Living and working here, do you believe this nickname?

A: I wouldn't be here if it was. Any place can be dreary if you let it get to you.

Remembrance day crowd wants day off

Cadets, legion members, groups, residents gather for service and parade at Mather Arch, Sunday

Ray Spiteri
QMI Agency Niagara

Robert Bolton says it's a no-brainer—Remembrance Day should be a statutory holiday across Canada.

"It definitely should be and I already told (former Niagara Falls MP) Kim Craitor and (Niagara Falls MP and federal defence minister) Rob Nicholson as such last year," said the poppy chairman with the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 71 in Fort Erie.

"We should be able to get all our veterans out on one day, not on all these different days. That would be the best way to show respect for all our veterans we lost during the wars."

Fort Erie cadet groups, residents, legion members and dignitaries gathered at Mather Arch for a Remembrance Day ceremony and parade Sunday afternoon.

Everyone who spoke with QMI Agency Niagara said Nov. 11 should be turned into a national statutory holiday.

Currently, different provinces have different ways of treating the day -- some as an official paid statutory holiday and others as optional, Ontario falling into the latter category.

The way Free Johan Smits sees it, if Ontarians are allowed to have a public holiday to celebrate family (Family Day), then we should also have one to "honour the sacrifices of those who have given us freedom."

"My uncles fought in Holland (during the Second World War)," said Smits, adding that's where his family comes from. "My dad fought in the Dutch resistance. He was in a concentration camp. To think of the sacrifices they paid, if it wasn't for those who came before us and those who serve now, we wouldn't be here, I'll tell you that much."

Don Cale, who lives in Fort Erie and joined the Royal Canadian Navy in 1953 during the Korean War, said if Remembrance

Day was a statutory holiday, more people may attend ceremonies.

"It would be another sign of support, another way to remember the sacrifices, the courage, the bravery," he said. "It's the least we can do for our veterans."

Bantams win big dressed in pink

For the Fort Erie Times

The Fort Erie major bantam hockey team came home as the champions from the St. Thomas major tournament in October.

The team began the tournament wearing their pink jerseys for breast cancer awareness. The tournament was based on a point per period scoring system which Fort Erie came out on top with 13 1/2 points out of a possible 15 to put them into the finals.

In the final game, Fort Erie took on St. Thomas Stars.

St. Thomas started the scoring and lead 1-0 but Fort Erie battled back with two goals of their own.

Fort Erie was short-handed with less than two minutes to go and the Stars pulled their goalie.

It was a whirlwind for the last 40 seconds of shots being blocked, being tipped, and being saved but Fort Erie held on and came away victorious with a 2-1 win.

After their victory, the boys came home to serve free brick oven pizza compliments of the Canuck Pizza Truck, owned by Christine and Ted Laflaur to anyone who donated to breast cancer on Oct. 26.

It was a windy, rainy cold Saturday but the team hung out on the curb side of Hamilton Rd. for several hours trying to draw the crowd in.

The team raised $700 to donate for breast cancer.

A bouquet for the two girls who came to our home on Halloween collecting food for COPE.

Brick to a bad driver

I have a brick for the person who drove across my front lawn. They should be ashamed of them selves as there are so many children in my area that walk on the lawn on that side of the street as there are not any sidewalks.

Brick to rude motorists

A brick to the people who wait until the last possible minute to merge into one lane on the QEW. There is a lot of construction and some of these motorists expect everyone to let them in. There are signs that are posted to warn drivers. They start 2 km ahead. There are also big flashing arrows. Instead of expecting to let people in, just look and plan ahead for a change!

Brick to lazy horse owner

Here's a brick to the person who rides their horse along the beach and lets the animal defecate right in the middle of the public beach access. That's just rude! Clean it up or at the very least make an attempt to toss it off the path.

People stoop and scoop after their dogs and you should do the same with your horse.

Bouquet for helpful neighbours

This is a bouquet for my neighbour who invited me inside when I realized I didn't have my key with me and I had to wait until my husband came home to let me. It's embarrassing when you lock yourself out of your own house, but it's so nice to know I have kind neighbours who don't mind opening up their homes and spend a half hour sharing wonderful conversation.

Bouquet for a stranger

A bouquet to the person who found my wallet in the parking lot of a grocery store and returned it to the store manager. When I came back for it, everything was still inside.

It's nice to know that there are kind and honest people out there in our world. I just wish that I could thank you for your good deed. I don't know what I would have done if my wallet had been lost. It would have been

WHY PERFORM A WHEEL ALIGNMENT ON YOUR VEHICLE?

An alignment is a series of precise measurements and adjustments to ensure your wheels are travelling parallel to each other and that the tires are making full tread contact to the road. Wheel alignment prevents uneven tire tread wear, vehicle pulling to one side while driving, and the steering wheel feeling 'off centre'. It also maximizes tire tread life, contributes to safe and dependable vehicle control and improves fuel economy.

WORKSHOPS

A COOKING HEALTHY ON A BUDGET

Our resident experts will give you some tips on how to cook well on a limited budget. Discover new foods that provide a large impact on health and don't break the bank. This "hands-on" workshop will have you making your own starter, main course and side dish. Spaces are limited to first come, first serve.

B ADOLESCENTS & ADDICTIONS - THE ROLE OF THE PARENT

Knowing the signs to look for is critical if you suspect someone you love has a problem. This workshop will provide dialogue around some of the indicators of substance use by adolescents, as well as some of the potential reasons behind their use. Knowing when to provide gentle guidance or "tough love" so that you are not enabling the problem is a challenge. Discussion will also focus on strategies that can assist in addressing the concerns and what alternative treatments are available.

C EDUCATION FOR OUR ABORIGINAL YOUTH

Explore how we are engaging our youth in today's education system and various opportunities for enrichment through Aboriginal culture therein. Look at how we are closing the gaps in student achievement through various specialized resources, formal and informal opportunities for career training, and connecting with our community.

D DIETING & VEGANISM - STAYING BALANCED

Does your son want a high protein diet to "bulk up"? Does your daughter want to "go vegan"? Managing your family's different tastes and diets can be a challenge. With the multitude of diets & trends it is difficult to know the common dangers to watch for. Get tips and expert advice from a dietitian who has first-hand knowledge of these diets and ensure your teen stays healthy.

E PARENTING TEENS - SERENITY NOW!

The teen years can be a tumultuous time not only for the teenager but for parents as well. Are you wondering who this person is that you used to know? Is communicating with your child like trying to understand a foreign language? Do you feel frustrated one minute and overwhelmingly concerned the next? Ask the tough questions and get the real answers. Get the tools, feel supported and leave EMPOWERED!

F POST SECONDARY EDUCATION - IS IT WORTH THE INVESTMENT?

In today's economy, many parents are left wondering if post-secondary education is worth it. Many wonder if it is worth the debt accrued rather than heading straight to the world of work. Explore the latest resources available to parents and students in career exploration, market trends, and financing through the Individual Pathways Plan and Life After High School programs in order to make an informed decision.
